- The community can now enjoy a safer and more connected Great River Walk experience with the new pedestrian pathway on Nepean Avenue complete and ready to use. The pathway, stretching between Memorial Avenue and Tench Reserve, features bollards at key intervals to provide physical and visual cues to motorists and help to protect pedestrians from passing traffic.

The project has also delivered new traffic calming paver bands on the road to create a safer, calmer traffic environment that supports cyclists. New trees have also been planted to enhance amenity, provide shade and help cool the city.

The project significantly improves pedestrian safety and provides the crucial 'missing link' to the popular bridge-to-bridge loop of the Great River Walk, enjoyed by thousands of people each week.

- If you're looking for an excuse to go outdoors on the weekend, register for our Creating Canopies tree planting event on Saturday 1 March from 9am-12pm at Emu Green Reserve in Emu Heights. We've partnered with Greater Sydney Landcare to plant 1,000 trees at the reserve to provide shelter and habitat for local wildlife.
